THIS WEEK'S BLURB

Easter is a much celebrated and special event on the religious calendar. It is a great time to pause and reflect on how amazing the Christian redemption story is. As I have travelled it is exciting to revisit some of these profound but simple fundamentals of Christianity - especially that we worship and have relationship with a living God. It is extraordinary to think that we as human beings can be connected to Jesus; who not only lived as one of us, understanding the human condition, but also, loved us so much that he gave up all his divine rights while here on earth, so that we can forever be in relationship with him.

Because it is such a worthy event, we are celebrating Easter today in a way that attempts to practically help us explore the reality of some of the key aspects of what was involved in the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus. Accordingly I have designed some interactive activities for us to engage in, so that this Sunday we don't just think about the redemptive process, but as well we are provided with a simple way to learn how this central event - the death, burial and resurrection can be applied in our daily lives.

Therefore, today in the service, we will engage in a process of 'going to Jesus'. In so doing, we will be focussing on: (1) encountering him as the only One capable of completely removing 'as far as the east is from the West' our 'stuff; and also (2), focussing on him as the One who has empowered us to live in His power and might because He truly is resurrected, alive, and seated with the Father, and how he is right at this very moment making intercession for you and me because He loves us! As well, we will, (3) focus on the empowerment provided to us in the person of the Holy Spirit. By doing this, it is my hope that somehow we each will be able to use this specifically designed interactive process to facilitate us remembering this extraordinary central Christian truth - Jesus is indeed alive, with us and has empowered us!

God bless heaps
