THIS WEEK'S BLURB

Hi Church, "Bula", greetings from hot and sunny Fiji - Actually, cool and totally overcast today - but still nice.

While away on holiday I have been philosophising to myself about the meaning of life etc, etc, as one does.
I was thinking about the innate magical power of words: The power to construct or to deconstruct, to heal or to hurt, to assist and facilitate God's purposes, or to frustrate and contradict them.

The power of language is inherent of course in the nature of God. It is the principal means by which He brings his plans and purposes to pass. Words are the great brush strokes of primary colour that God uses to illustrate the blank canvas of history with His unmistakable signature. "And God said..... and it was".

Being made in His image assures us similar access to this creative mode, yet I wonder if we ever truly utilise its potential.

Jesus was exhorted by the Centurion, "Just say the word..... " knowing that when He spoke new things would start to happen. What "word" might Jesus want you to say right now in order to facilitate the new things He is planning for your life?

Best blessings,

Hamish & Di
