THIS WEEK'S BLURB

Congratulations to Phil Warbrick (the manager) of 'The All Whites' and the team for their sterling performance at the World Cup. Their determination, and perseverance to be undefeated, despite such overwhelming odds (ranked as 78th in the world!) has surely been an inspiration to us all.

The highlight for me was the game in which 'The All Whites' were up against the Italians. The Italians were still (at that stage) ranked as the world's number one leading team in football. So, blurry eyed and tense, Hamish and I loyally and enthusiastically watched the game at 2am, simply to give our support to 'The All Whites'. Apparently, according to media reports, we were merely one of a quarter of the entire population of New Zealand, who similarly watched the game live at 2am!. However, to be honest, I did not for one moment, prior to watching that game, think 'The All Whites' had a chance against the Italians. So what a thrilling game it was filled with 'anticipatory anxiety' (not sure there is any such phrase!), butterflies, and squeals of delight, coupled with absolute amazement as we witnessed the amazing performance of the NZ team. One morning paper aptly headlined the game as: 'David taking on Goliath'.

And, perhaps that is what has been so inspirational about 'The All Whites', amazing performance. When the odds were so stacked against them, still they persevered. They did not attempt to 'dress up in the armour' of others; rather they stuck to their known strengths. Many of us retreat at the point when we are fearful or overwhelmed - too afraid to take on the giant, rather than 'going to our strengths and our God. So, be inspired (or a bit fearful) because the reality is there will be more giants for us to face - therefore the opportunity for us to be like the David's called to take on the Goliath's is surely an exciting challenge and adventure that we cannot avoid, so we might as well just go for it!

God bless heaps,
Di & Hamish
